Join the RHE Email Forum

The RHE Board has established a Google Groups e-mail discussion forum to inform owners and residents of Rosslyn Heights East news and developments that may affect them and allow owners and residents to share information with each other and ask questions about RHE and the neighborhood.

The RHE board will use the forum to alert owners and residents to water shutoffs, parking lot closures, heating and air conditioning issues, parking enforcement actions, police incident reports, changes to RHE House Rules, etc. Forum participants may exchange information on other condominium-related matters such as experience with contractors or service providers.

Those who join with a Gmail address can post notices and respond directly to questions through their Gmail account. (Gmail accounts are free, which means that owners and residents can establish one for email forum purposes, if they wish.) If you do not have a Gmail address, you still will receive email notices posted to the group but will not be able to post to the group yourself.

To join, email a request to rosslynheightseast@hotmail.com with your name, street address and unit number (e.g., 1222 #37).

NOTE: The email forum is not for reporting emergencies. Instead, see the RHE website item on Emergency/Problem Contacts.
